

Psychological Test and Assessment Modeling

Volume 63, 2021 (4)

CONTENTS

- 458 Note: Reducing the risk of lucky guessing as well as avoiding the contamination of speed and power in (paper-pencil) group-testing – illustrated by a new test-battery
Klaus D. Kubinger
- 469 Conditions leading to the observation of a difficulty effect and its consequence for confirmatory factor analysis
Karl Schweizer, Christine DiStefano, Stefan Troche
- 484 Rasch Joint Maximum Likelihood Estimation Algorithms and Missing Data
Adam E. Wyse
- 507 Are you Swiping, or Just Marking? Exploring the Feasibility of Psychological Testing on Mobile Devices
Marco Koch, Corina Möller, Frank M. Spinath
- 525 Chances and Psychometric Limits of Questionnaires for Field-Specific Interest: An Example from Mechanical Engineering
Lisbeth Weitensfelder, Ilona Herbst
- 542 Simulation-Based Learning of Complex Skills: Predicting Performance With Theoretically Derived Process Features
Laura Brandl, Constanze Richters, Anika Radkowsch, Andreas Obersteiner, Martin R. Fischer, Ralf Schmidmaier, Frank Fischer, Matthias Stadler